

Patricio Aroca

Profesor Titular
Universidad Adolfo Ibáñez
Av. Padre Alberto Hurtado 750, Of. 207-C Viña del Mar, CHILE
+5632 250 3898
e-mail: patricio.aroca@uai.cl
Home page: <https://sites.google.com/site/parocasitio1/>

Patricio Aroca, Professor and Director of the Center for Regional Economics and Policy at Universidad Adolfo Ibáñez, Viña del Mar, Chile, and Visiting Associate Professor, University of Illinois, earned his B.S. in business (1983) from the Universidad Austral (Chile), M.A. in economics (1987) from Universidad de Chile, M.Sc. in Policy Economics (1994), and a Ph.D. in economics (1995) from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He is specialized in econometrics, natural resources and regional economics, and more specifically works with Input-Output analysis, Spatial Econometrics, Regional Growth and Labor Interregional Migration. He is principal investigator of the research nucleus “Regional Science & Public Policy” of the Chilean Millennium Scientific Initiative and the research project of the Chilean FONDEF-CONICYT “Measuring the Impact and Spillover of Chilean Regional Investment”. In addition, to his publication in international journals and books; he has consulted for the World Bank, UNCTAD, IADB and CELADE-ECLAC. Currently, he is President of RSAmericas and member of the board of RSAI and PRSCO.